

a In-silico neuroforecasting pipeline

A predicted neural index is a function of the stimulus; it must earn its label before it is reported.

